About the Garden of Life

The Garden of Life represents five innovative sustainability projects whose social and educational components are of utmost importance. A collaborative project that was created to bring tangible solutions to various global challenges: the preservation of cultures and spirituality, environmental and animal welfare, the use and expansion of renewable energies, local job creation, and advocating for women and the youth.

Located in five strategic locales around the globe, the Garden of Life initiative is dedicated to advancing the United Nations' 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). A truly global undertaking, the Garden of Life is open to every citizen of the world who is committed to making a positive difference for the future.

On the slopes of the second highest volcano, surrounded by endless rice terraces, lies Garden of Life Bali. The 18-hectare park embodies the Fibonacci spiral - a mathematical formula that can be found everywhere in nature and whose centre will be the "Flower of Life". It will include a hotel village with sustainably built villas, restaurants, and a wellness spa. The project supports the people of Bali by bringing together the best therapists, masseurs, and natural healers of the island.

Show your support by purchasing the Hexagon NFT and other collectibles. All proceeds are allocated to 8 Bali-based NGOs, as well as the physical park's ecosystem and its resident workers.
